The Illinois 4-H Food Advocacy Team

As a team member you will:
- Grow your leadership
- Build networks with peers
- Develop action plans
- Get out in the community
- Explore career opportunities
- Gain life-changing skills
- Learn design thinking

Inspiring the next generation of food access leaders through personal development, professional networking and service learning.

1 in 8 children in Illinois lack access to the food they need for a healthy, active life; leading to poor health outcomes.
Source: https://web.extension.illinois.edu/INEP/snap-ed.cfm

Teens in particular often avoid the food assistance they may need out of fear of being stigmatized.
Source: https://web.extension.illinois.edu/INEP/snap-ed.cfm

Increasing food access requires changes in policies, food systems and community environments that make healthier choices easier.
Source: https://web.extension.illinois.edu/INEP/snap-ed.cfm

As a 4-H Food Advocacy team member, you will network with career and academic professionals to provide leadership for Illinois youth on how to engage their community in food access and food justice issues.

Inspire
Spark your interest and educate yourself about the future of food systems.

Innovate
Collaborate to develop new approaches to large-scale challenges.

Implement
Event planning, program development and advocacy leadership.

Are you ready to be an advocate?

As a team member you will:
- Grow your leadership
- Build networks with peers
- Develop action plans
- Get out in the community
- Explore career opportunities
- Gain life-changing skills
- Learn design thinking

Applications open May 1, 2021
Apply Here

Contact Mark Becker, Illinois 4-H Food Systems Specialist:
Mbbecker@illinois.edu